LADIES, YOU NEED TO EARN YOUR STRIPES

NAUTICAL styles are floating fashion's boat this winter, with the summer trend being translated for the cooler months.

Wide-leg culottes, striped knitwear, naval-inspired blazers, leather jackets and felt hats have replaced typical sailor styles, including high-waisted shorts, striped crop tops and straw boater hats. A crisp colour palette of navy, white and red as well as bold, gold jewellery has also been embraced by high street stores including Witchery, Trenery, Gorman, Seed and Mimco.

Highpoint stylist Sarah Singer says the trend is perfect for trans-seasonal weather.

"The nautical look this season combines sophistication with a sense of fun," Ms Singer said.

"The trend combines a lot of textures and also provides the opportunity to layer."

Stars of Melbourne musical Anything Goes, Claire Lyon and Samantha Leigh Dodemaide, showcased the trend this week.

Anything Goes is playing at the Princess Theatre.
